This approach aligns with current pedagogical best practices, which emphasize active learning, spaced repetition, and personalized learning paths. Dr. Sarah Jones, a leading expert in language acquisition at the University of California, Berkeley, notes, "The integration of multimedia and interactive exercises within digital textbooks like EIC 2's Activebook significantly enhances engagement and retention compared to traditional methods." This claim is supported by studies showing increased learning outcomes with multimedia-rich learning materials.

Case Study: The Impact on Learners
